Pricing and Ordering:

I offer a large number of images with a variety of aspect ratios, many of which are not the common 8x10, 8x12, or 16x20 ratio's. Therefore I'm offering prints through a couple sources to give you more choices. The sources are:

1. Order Direct (from me)...(fewer aspect ratios and very moderate costs)
2. FineArtAmerica (any size & aspect ratio, all with choices of mat colors, frames, styles)
3. Red Bubble (fewer aspect ratio choices and some matting options; less costly)

I think each source offers some particular advantage(s) and I've tried to sort my images so it's easy for you to pick and choose the best for your wants. Some of the choice details are:

•Ordered Direct: I will print the image locally or through the company Mpix. I offer the following sizes and prices. All the prices listed are $'s US. The prints are shipped in a mailing tube, the canvas in a box and the shipping charge is $5.95.

•FineArtAmerica will print, mat and frame any and every size. My site links will take you to the FAA shopping carts where you can customize the print size with a large choice of mat colors and frame designs. Their shopping cart will quickly show you color renderings of your image, the mat color and frame choices and makes ordering more complete and simple than any I've seen. I think you'll have a great experience. FAA and I will guarantee that you do.

•Red Bubble is more selective with size and aspect ratios. I've made an attempt to select images with the proper aspect ratios so to work seamlessly with Red Bubble. RB costs are the more moderate of my two outside sources. Red Bubble offers more image cards.

- Prints are all on archival quality paper designed for rich, sharp colors that will not fade or yellow.
